Notice of Change in the Industrial Classification of the Company's Stock

Mitsui Matsushima Holdings Co., Ltd. (the "Company") hereby announces that the industrial classification of its stock on the Prime Market of the Tokyo Stock Exchange, on which the Company's stock is listed, will be changed from the current "Mining" to "Other Products" by the decision of the Securities Identification Code Committee as follows:

As a result, there will be a change in where the Company's stock will be presented in, for example, the stock sections of newspapers. However, the stock code (1518) will remain unchanged.

1. Details of the Change

Present classification	Classification after change
Mining	Other Products

2. Reasons for the Change

The Company's stock has been classified as "Mining" as the Company was formerly engaged in the coal production and sales business as its main business since its foundation in 1913. However, the Company discontinued this business in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024.

As a result, most of the Company's revenue in and after the current fiscal year will be generated from more than 10 companies that it has acquired to date. As the Company's stock will fall under the industrial classification change criteria provided for by the Guidelines for Industrial Classifications established by the Securities Identification Code Committee, its industrial classification will be changed as indicated above.

3. Date of Change
